

Curriculum Vitae

Nitsan Shalom
Ramat Gan, Israel
nitsans3@mail.tau.ac.il

CURRENT POSITIONS

- 2015-present Scientific editor at the Institute of Archaeology of Tel Aviv University Publications.
- 2015-present Teaching assistant to Professor Oded Lipschits, head of the Sonia and Marco Nadler Institute of Archaeology.
- 2012-present Area supervisor in the Lautenschläger Tel Azekah Archaeological Expedition. In charge of the academic program at the excavation.

EDUCATION

- 2017 MA in the Program for Ancient Israel Studies, Tel Aviv University, titled "Changes in Settlement Patterns in Judah between the Persian and Early Hellenistic Period".
- 2013 BA with honors in Archaeology and Ancient Near Eastern Cultures and Jewish Philosophy from Tel Aviv University.
Received Rector Award (2011) and Dean Award (twice: 2012-2013).
A student in the Adi Lautman Program for Outstanding Students.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FIELDWORK AND OTHER PROJECTS

- 2014 Assisting in the organization of an international conference titled "Judah in the 'Long Third Century BCE'" held in Tel Aviv University.
- 2011 Excavation in Monfort Castle, Haifa University.
- 2011 Excavation in Qesem Cave, Tel Aviv University.

PUBLICATIONS

Shalom, N. and Barkai, R. 2012. The Neanderthals: Then and Today. Galileo 166: 26-35 (Hebrew).

Lipschits, O., Shalom, N., Shatil, N. and Gadot, Y. 2014. Judah in the "Long Third Century" - An Archaeological Perspective. New Studies in the Archaeology of Jerusalem and its Region VIII: 134-152 (Hebrew).

Lipschits, O., Shalom, N., Shatil, N. and Gadot, Y. Forthcoming. Judah in the "Long Third Century" - An Archaeological Perspective. In: Lipschits, O., Honigman, S., Nihan, C. and Romer, T. (eds.) Judah and the Judeans in the Ptolemaic Period. Eisenbrauns.

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

The Rural Hinterland of Jerusalem: Continuity and Discontinuity in the Persian Period. Presented at ASOR 2015, Atlanta, Georgia.

Changes in Settlement Patterns in Judah between the Persian and Hellenistic Periods. Presented at ASOR 2016, San Antonio, Texas.